Next DOMS concert: Cantatas for Holy Week (March 27)

Caelis Academy Ensemble, directed by Matthew Larkin, marks a time of transition singing J.S. Bach's Cantatas BWV 4 and 150 with string orchestra Les Temps Perdu.

The Ottawa-based Primary Colours Trio builds from the tradition of jazz, taking influence from modern acts, blending acoustic and electric elements. The bond of friendship and trust becomes evident in their music, allowing them to explore sound with vulnerability and creativity.

Chris Pond is a bassist, composer and producer originally from St. John's, Newfoundland. After arriving in Ottawa, Chris quickly became the city's most in demand bass player. He grew up learning several instruments and later became immersed in jazz. He has since been working with award-winning musicians in both St. John's and Ottawa. He also creates and releases electronic music under the moniker Amateur Painter.

Deniz Lim-Sersan is a Canadian multi-instrumentalist and producer. From youth, Deniz had a unique voice on the piano and studied jazz through community bands in Ottawa. After graduating from Humber College he attended the Banff International Workshop in Jazz and Creative Music. Now Deniz is touring across Canada, playing with different bands and directing his own projects: Primary Colours and his funk band Nitro Turtle.

José Hernández García is an award-winning drummer, composer, and educator living in Ottawa. In 2016, he obtained a Bachelor of Music in performance from Humber College in Toronto. José has worked with many artists from different genres including Michelle Treacy, Anjali Ranadive, Sreerama Chandra, Miguel de Armas, Kellylee Evans, Roddy Elias, Marc Copland, and many more.
